

transmute

To alter, change or convert
something

metamorphosis

A complete
change in form
or substance

protean

Extremely
variable

dynamic

Constantly
changing or moving

malleable

Flexible or easily
shaped

binary

Something that is separated into two parts that are both of equal importance, but are mutually exclusive

decode

To make clear
and easy to understand

cryptic

Obscure or otherwise hard
to understand

anthropomorphic

Having the attributes of a human, but not being human

superannuated

Oldfashioned
or archaic

symbiosis

A
mutually-beneficial
relationship

alloy

A metal that is made up of two or more metallic substances
that have been combined

inundate

To overwhelm
or deluge with
something

collusion

Coming together for a secret purpose

reconcile

To create a good
relationship
between two things

quixotic

Someone who impulsively
performs noble
and romantic, but impractical, acts

prolix

Wordy or verbose

maxim

A saying about
a general rule
of life

axiom

Something that is
accepted as true because it has been proved constantly true in the past, or because it's so obvious it doesn't need to be proved again

noxious

“Unpleasant”

vehement

Being forceful, passionate, or
intense when speaking

vapid

Dull, lifeless,
and bland

vocation

A job or occupation

viable

Able to be done

venue

A place
where events
occur

idyllic

Peaceful,
happy, and
perfect

nostalgia

A longing for things to be the way they were in the past

renaissance

“rebirth” or “revival”

visionary

Someone who
sees the possibilities of the future

paragon

The best, or the ideal, of
something

--

--

--

--